

At the Diner (Diversity)

CULTURE / FOOD

We aren't a restaurant or a café, we're rather different. From our kitchen, we create authentic, gourmet French meals – from beef bourguignon to crab risotto – and then fast-freeze them. We supply them frozen and ready to pop in the oven or microwave so you can enjoy all the classic flavours of the French kitchen without the effort.

In France, the three-course meal is actually the rule for every meal... For special occasions, the French do add more courses. The culture attaches a big importance to food; we spend much longer per day sitting at the dinner table than we do here in England.
www.macuisine.co.uk

THE INDIAN FINE DINER
Mox Rahman is the co-owner of The Mint Room on Lower Bristol Road, Bath, which he says aims to redefine Indian cuisine

There are different cultures within India, so eating habits are varied throughout... They range from hand-eaten street-food to the finest of dining. We specialise in fine dining with a contemporary touch.

Street-food is part of the DNA of India... We cover dishes from all corners of the continent, but many of our signature dishes have a focus on the exotic flavourings of Southern India. We base our cuisine around this culture as this is our family heritage. Chicken Lababdar and Scabass Molee are two of our signature dishes, using classic spicing.

We will open a roof terrace this summer... Perfect for sunny days, it'll have a cocktail bar and we'll serve small dishes.
www.themintroom.co.uk

PHOTO BY FRANK TIELA

Above: Experience Indian fine dining at The Mint Room; below: the husband and wife owners of Ma Cuisine whip up gourmet French ready meals to take away

THE ECLECTIC

With exotic pizza toppings such as crocodile and llama, and craft beers from around the world, the aim at Juno, an independent bar and kitchen in SouthGate, Bath, is to seek diversity from the norm. Owner Andy Mills tells us more.

Our pizzas embrace the flavours of different cultures, including such ingredients as ostrich, buffalo and crocodile...

The idea behind our food is to keep it interesting and different. For a small city we are very lucky to have some very good pizzerias, so at Juno we have tried to create a menu that is slightly different to other pizzerias. At our monthly speciality pizza parties we offer exotic meat toppings at the next one on 6 May expect to taste zebra, llama and kangaroo.

Our influences come from everywhere, but essentially from our love of world cuisine and from trips we've taken...

From the French Alps and the beaches of Indonesia to the BBQ joints of America, we cook what we love and we love what we cook.

The craft beers we serve are from places as diverse as Japan and Sweden...

Our bottle range is one of the most extensive in the city, ranging from gluten-free beer from the Czech Republic to Bath-brewed Edison from Electric Bear Brewing Co.

We seek diversity from the norm and champion the alternative...

This is perhaps demonstrated in our kitchen which pays homage to the original pizza vendors of Napoli. With a modern twist we work with an 18-year-old San Franciscan mother dough, and to that we add only the best imported Italian flour, and then finally we add our toppings in the original 'New York style' – sauce on last. www.junobath.co.uk

“
HE WAS A PRIVATE
CHEF FOR NICOLAS
CAGE,
AND HE COOKED
FOR DEMI
MOORE
ON A BOAT
DURING HER
CARIBBEAN
HOLIDAY
”

34 | BATH LIFE | www.mediaclash.co.uk

Set in a diner, the course uses the conversations between the diner's owner and his diverse customers to set the stage for real understanding and acceptance. Meet the personable Dom. Maybe you'd like a meal at his Diner? The Diversity Diner, that is. Diversity: Food for Thought takes you into the world of the. In Diversity: Food for Thought, viewers learn how to confront their biases and change their paradigms to include trust, openness, and effective communication. The Diversity Diner program provides micro-awards to Eller students for coffee or tea (and even pastries) with someone of a different gender, race, ethnicity, age. Join the conversation and savor the benefits of this unique program. Diversity: Food for Thought is set in a diner where conversations between the owner and his. 27 Jan - 8 min - Uploaded by One Spark CRM Learning 44, views We Love You Now Change, Diversity Training Video. Healthy way to tackle diversity. Food for Thought gave us great results because it handles diversity. What I'd want as a diner is a diversity of pairings that highlight the restaurant's talented staff and show off their cuisine with thoughtful builds and applications. Everyone attending Thursday night's Diner en Blanc, a fine dining flash mob that descended en masse upon Yards Park in Southeast. Diners visiting MasterChef SA Deena Naidoo's new restaurant, which he won in the reality television show this week, will be in for a South. Search Company Restaurant And Corporate Positions It is Denny's strong belief that America's diversity is one of the greatest assets in this global economy. Out in the suburbs of Evans, restaurateur Joyce Price offers up hand-cut french fries, real malted milkshakes and old-school Monte Cristo. It seems Americans are hungry for diversity when it comes to their food. The National Restaurant Association finds 66 percent of consumers. Brian Passey reviews Blondie's Diner in Springdale and its Elk Burger. Photos courtesy of Jackson Diner. Hillary Clinton visited Jackson Diner in Jackson Heights on Monday to discuss diversity and discrimination. WHAT. DiNER fairs are an agricultural response geared to helping households improve nutrition and strengthen farming system resilience.

[\[PDF\] Topics in Ordinary Differential Equations](#)

[\[PDF\] The Physiology of Excitable Cells](#)

[\[PDF\] Accelerated Expertise: Training for High Proficiency in a Complex World \(Expertise: Research and App](#)

[\[PDF\] Writing Home: Representations of the Native Place in Modern Japanese Literature \(Harvard East Asian](#)

[\[PDF\] The Literature of the Old Testament](#)

[\[PDF\] Math Game, Volume 1](#)

[\[PDF\] Pearls of Wisdom Affirmations and Guidance For Today's World Volume 1](#)